第四部分 写作(共两节,满分 40 分)

第一节 (满分 15 分)

One possible version:

Dear Tom,

How's everything been going recently? I'm writing to ask for some suggestions. I'm going to travel around New York during this winter vacation. Could you please introduce some famous places that I can visit and enjoy? What should I do to arrange my trip? By the way, since this will be my first time abroad and my culture is different from yours, what should I be careful about during my trip?

I'm looking forward to your reply.

Yours,

Li Hua

第二节 (满分 25 分)

One possible version:

Later that evening, I felt a bit hungry and went downstairs to get some food. There was a light coming from the study. I overheard my parents talking and wanted to find out if the conversation was about what a horrible daughter I was. When I tiptoed to the door, my father was speaking. He sounded sad. This unusual scene caught my attention. "Our daughter is growing up. How I wish I could spend more time with her before she leaves us." He finished with a sigh. I was struck speechless. I didn't know my presence mattered that much to my family. If only I had stood in my parents' shoes!

When Saturday was around the corner, I made a decision. I apologized to my friends and explained the situation. To my relief, they wished me a happy day at my aunt's and promised to hang-out some time next week. On Saturday, I got up early. I made my bed, changed into suitable clothes, and showed up at the breakfast table. My parents looked at me in surprise. "I guess there's plenty of time for a girl's night out," I explained, somewhat embarrassed. I smiled as I saw the look of joy on my parents' faces. In that moment, I realized I should always put my family first.

Text 1

W: Can you keep quiet please? I am trying to watch the news in the living room. The noise you made in the kitchen made me hardly hear the news.

M: Sorry. (1) I'll go outside to play with Bob in the garden.

Text 2

W: What's wrong, Fred? You were so excited this morning about your first day in the new school.

(2) It didn't go well?

M: It went fine. But John and I are not in the same class, so I'm pretty sad now.

Text 3

M: Oh, I'm so tired. I stayed up late to write a newspaper article last night.

W: Poor you. But being a nurse isn't easy either. I'm busy all day every day. (3)

Text 4

W: Sir, here are your two chicken hamburgers and a Coke. That will be $ 15 please. Are you paying with cash or card?

M: Cash. Here is $ 20. (4)

Text 5

W: For seven nights in Spain, including flights, hotel rooms and breakfast, it will cost you $ 1400 per person. Do you want to take it?

M: Yes, I will book for two people. (5)

Text 6

M: Good afternoon, Miss. Can I help you?

W: Yes. I have lost my cat. I've been searching my neighborhood for two days but found nothing.

M: What does your cat look like?

W: His body is white, but his tail is black, and his name is Frodo. (6)

M: I'm afraid I haven't seen a cat like that. There was an orange cat named Terry this morning, but the owner came for her a while later.

W: Could you keep an eye out for him?

M: Sure. Can I have your phone number? (7)

W: Of course.

Text 7 (第 9 题为推断题)

W: Now the key to recovering after hurting your back is to avoid lifting things.

M: I see. Can I play football?

W: I suggest that you take two weeks off. Do you go to the gym? (8)

M: Yes, three times a week. (8)

W: If you do, avoid lifting any weights. If you want to go for a run or jog, it's okay.

M: Okay. Does this happen often?

W: It does. Usually, the reason why problems like this occur is that you haven't warmed up properly.

M: I never warm up.

W: Then you should start doing it. It will reduce the risk of being hurt and help you work out better.

M: Thank you, doctor.

W: You're welcome.

Text 8

W: Hi, Tim. (10) (11) (12) Welcome to our program. (10)

M: Hi, Jayne. Thanks for having me. (10)

W: Well, our listeners have some questions for you. (10) Firstly, how did you get into writing? (11)

M: I first became interested in writing since I was a child. (11) But I didn't take it seriously until I studied English literature (文学) at university.

W: You are known for some great children's books. Have you ever written other types of books?

M: I also wrote some short stories. Once I surprisingly found a little boy focusing on my Red Apple Tree on my train to France. I guess that's why I continue writing.

W: That's cool. So, how do you come up with the ideas for your books? (12)

M: The ideas are in everyday life, all around me. (12) All I have to do is go for a walk, open my eyes and see the world. I avoid watching TV shows or movies.

W: Interesting.

Text 9

W: Hey, Karl. (13) (14) (15) How was your trip to Brazil? (13)

M: Oh, Rachel, it was amazing. I spent three nights in the forest with a local family. They taught me so much. (13)

W: Like what? (13)

M: I learned things like how to get in touch with nature, how to hunt for food, (13) how to set up a place to live, and how to tell apart the sounds of different animals.

W: Were the sounds scary?

M: At night time, yes. And it was especially scary when it rained heavily at night. (14) You can't see anything in front of you.

W: Wow. What were the local people like? (15)

M: Pretty good. (15) They didn't speak English, so my guide had to translate for me. But they were friendly and so skillful. (15) Even the children could build houses and find food.

W: Interesting. Did you take photos? (16)

M: Yes. And I have printed out all of them. Let me show you some. (16)

W: That sounds great. (16)

Text 10

M: I am here today to tell you about building your self-confidence. (17) When I was a student at this school, I was very shy and nervous, and I didn't use the opportunities to practice speaking in front of people. I regret that, and that's why I advise you all to try and speak during classes. The more you speak, the more confident you'll become. Many of you know Mr. Wilson, our drama teacher. He helped me a lot in speaking in public. (18) In my final year, he chose me to play the leading role in the school play. This really helped increase my self-confidence. For my job now, working as a salesman, (19) I must speak to people all the time but I'm not nervous any more. So, my advice is not being afraid of making mistakes. All you have to do is face them and carry on. (20) Now I shall pass you over to the head teacher.
