M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

children love to read. So today we invite Mathew Brown to tell us his experience. Did you like reading, Mathew?

M: Well, no, and watching TV was more interesting to me.

W: You must be kidding.

M: That's the truth. My elder brother and I lived with my mom in a small apartment in Detroit and we watched TV every night. But one day when I was in Grade Five, my mom turned off the TV. She hoped that we could read two books every week and write a report on what we read.

W: What made her make this decision?

M: She did the cleaning in the suburban house where she noticed the books.

W: So did you go to the house to borrow books?

M: No, my mom took us to the public libraries. I loved animals and science. My brother loved engineering. When we saw some books on these topics, we started lifting through them. We were lost in another world for the first time in our life.

W: Then you began to love reading books?

M: Yes, the experience was quite different from watching TV. There were images forming in my mind instead of before my eyes.

W: Your mom is a great woman.

(Text 10)

M: I was once in a strange city. What's more, I couldn't speak a word of the language. On my second day, I got on the first bus that passed, rode on it for several stops, then got off and walked on. The first two hours passed pleasantly, and then I decided to turn back to my hotel for lunch. After walking about for some time, I decided I had better ask the way. The trouble was that the only word I knew of the language was the name of the street in which I lived. I stopped to ask a newspaper seller. He handed me a paper. I tried to explain myself, but he couldn't understand me. The next person I asked was a policeman. He listened to me carefully, nodded and gently took me by the arm. There was a strange look in his eyes as he pointed left and right and left again. I nodded politely and began walking in the direction he pointed. About an hour passed and I noticed that the houses were getting fewer and fewer and green fields were appearing on either side of me. I had come all the way into the countryside. The only thing left for me to do was to find the nearest railway station.

参考范文:

Dear Bruce,

I am writing to share my travel experience during the summer vacation with you. It was a delightful journey with my family to the ancient city of Xi'an. We explored the Terracotta Army, which was an astonishing sight, and tasted the local delicacies that were simply mouth-watering. Another highlight was the Xi'an City Wall, where we marveled at its grandeur and felt the historical significance it carries.

The trip was not just about the places we visited but the bond it strengthened among us. It was a blend of adventure, culture, and family time that I will cherish forever. I hope to hear about your summer adventures too!

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

参考范文:

I thought maybe the disgusting fish I saw earlier had something to do with this old man's actions. The fish he caught had been skinny and looked sick. I was so close to him that I could hear him say something about the people polluting the water. That's when I realized what he was talking about. The reason why we saw the dead fish earlier was that people were polluting the water. I noticed the fish he caught had the same black pattern on its scales as the dead fish. Those weren't scales; those were the result of bad chemicals. I felt really bad for the fish.

Hearing what they talked about the seriousness of water pollution, I understood why. Maybe someone threw some trash with chemicals into the water. Then another person threw another piece of trash into the lake. Maybe when the two chemicals were mixed together, they created a new deadly substance that killed the fish. This doesn't just affect the fish, it affects us too. If the smaller fish get poisoned, and the big fish eat them, the big fish will get poisoned. If we eat the poisoned fish, we will get poisoned. Then, Dahu Park will not be famous for its Moon Bridge, but it will be famous for its dead fish.
